Cobram's oil comes from Australia's best grove!

17th April 2008

The award for Australia's olive grove of the year in 2008 has gone to the Victorian grove contributing to many of Cobram Estate's multi award winning extra virgin olive oils.

Boort Estate, located 120km northwest of Bendigo, won the coveted prize of Olive Grove of the Year at a recent awards ceremony hosted by the Australian Olive Association.

The estate comprises almost 1 million trees on an area covering 2,800ha.

Cobram Estate Marketing Manager Ashley Read said extra virgin olive oil from the Boort grove contributed to many of Cobram's award winning oils, along with the Boundary Bend and Cobram Estate grove in northern Victoria. Boundary Bend Estate won the inaugural Olive Grove of the Year award in 2005.

"Boort is where the magic starts for many of our much-loved extra virgin olive oils that you will find on the supermarket shelves," he said.

"This grove delivers us a very reliable supply of premium Australian extra virgin olive oil for domestic and international sales."

Cobram Estate has enjoyed a stellar year in the national award circuit, outclassing its competitors in most categories to end the year with a total of 34 awards.

"This accolade tops off what has been a well-rounded year of recognition for Cobram Estate," Mr Read said.
